some of the worst features of the semicivilised natives of that Island. The inhabitants of Hainan are not exactly cannibals, but they do what comes next in order to that species of depravity,they rob and cruelly ill-treat those who are in dire distress. Even in China this barbarous conduct is becoming far less common than it used to be; and only in the wilds of this region "beyond the frontier," the little-explored Island of Hainan, has the inhuman and depraved tendency of late become apparent. From the reports which reach us regarding the British Consuls at the ports in that inhospitable neighbourhood, it may be presumed that some sort of a protest will be made against such revivals native savagery; and it is most earnestly to be hoped that such representations will receive the careful consideration of the Foreign Ministers at Peking. Under present circumstances, we are thankful for small mercies, and the smallest dole of civilised treatment in accordance with Treaty rights should be duly acknowledged. As it would be too much to ask that the offenders be adequately punished, it might be suggested that at least some public and official recognition be made of the worthy part which the Magistrate of Leong Suy appears to have played in the more recent catastrophetof the Canton. We commend the suggestion to those interested, with the conviction that its adoption would exercise a wholesome influence upon the other officials in the little-known region of Hainan.

THE world of sporting swelldom, we read in the London letter of a contemporary, is just now exercised over the proper relationship of a jockey to his employer. Some little time ago a peer brought his jockey to his club to dine with him. The club objected, and now the whole question is raised for discussion. The general opinion is that this hobnobbing between jockeys and their patrons has been pushed quite too far, and a number of clubs, where sporting men most do congregate, have revised their bye-laws, so that in future member may not introduce his jockey to est and drink with him.

"It was not the Arctic regions that sent Franklin's men to the next world. They were murdered by the contractor who supplied the expedition with preserved meats—the same contractor who supplied Sir James Ross' expedition, to which I belonged, and the tins labelled 'beef' and 'mutton' contained nothing but offal. Some of the tine. when opened, contained nothing but big knuokles of bons. Everything belonging to the animals was put into the time, except horne, hoofs and hides. The very entrails were there, and when they are them, having nothing else, they had to hold their noses, so offensive was the stench. If Sir James Ross and his party had been out another winter, they would have starved. I have repeatedly, in my lectures throughout Eugland, denounced this contractor as a mur derer, and dared him to bring an action for libel. I should be glad to have him do so, for I could establish the truth of what I say,

THE Pioneer notices as follows a change in the Anglo Indian taste for spirits :-

Whisky vs. Brandy, -The manners and customs of Anglo-Indians are being changed In one very important particular. In his review of the maritime trade of British India with other countries for the official year 1879-80 Mr Connor remarks that whisky has replaced brandy to a great extent among Anglo-Indians." Beer, too. he says, is gradually giving way to whisky. India last year imported 301,000 gallons of be 185,000 gallons. The beer trade, both honourably won and universally acknowin imported and Indian-brewed beer, is ledged. showing signs of a decline; though with the hill beer, this was chiefly due to so many of the troops being la Afghanistan. The trade in wine is also declining.

THE Argus (Melbourne) states that the entries of European and Australian wines for the Melbourne International Exhibition are very numerous, and that it is anticipated that the collection will be one of the a finest ever placed before a body of jurors. France, Germany, and Italy are sending more samples than all the Australian colonies put together, and some of the most celebrated vineyards are represented The colonies will make an imposing display on the occasion. Viotoria alone sending close upon 500 different samples, while both South Australia and this colony will be well represented, Western Australia will contribute a number of samples, and Cape wines will also be shown in considerable quantity. Regarding the appointment of judges in the different classes, the Wine Committee, at a meeting held recently, fully agreed with the wisdom of appointing independent jazors, and adjourned for the purpose of preparing a list of names in whom the exhibitors may repose confidence. Vignerous' associations have been invited to auggest the names of suitable persons.

All arrangements for the company visiting and performing at Hongkong have been completed; and the date of their arrival may be retarded on bastened according to the success the company meets with in its tour. The following notes concerning Carlotta Patti and her company are of interest :--A wonderful faculty for music is inherent in the family of Pattl. The foremost singer of our time is Adelina Patti, the sister of Carlotta Pattl, and her brother Carlo Pattl was also distinguished during his lifetime for great musical talent; her balf brother, Mr Barili, who accompanies her in her tour, is an opera singer who has won fame in the United States as Leporello, in "Don Giovanni." The subject of our notice has been endowed so liberally with this musical talent that but for the physical disability which prevents her from taking an active part in stage representations, she must have occupied a position as an opera singer as great as that which she has gained in concert music, and in this respect she has stood up to the present time unrivalled. Carlotta Patti was born in Rome in 1842, but most of her life has been passed in America where the early developed her musical talents, and where Hers and Barili were her earliest tutors. If her own leaning had not been so strongly towards singing, she would have been known to the world as a pignists of more than ordinary talent, so great was her musical faculty. She made her debut at the Academy of Music, in New York, in 1861, with a anguess which at once anny need to the world the advent of a truly great artist. She exhibited the possession of a soprano voice of extraordinary range, and of such high compass and clear tone, that in the absolute dearth of singers possessing the necessary qualifications she has been induced on rare occasions to sing on the stage the part of the Queen of Night in Mozart's opera "Die Zauberflote," in which the experienced reader will remember that the voice part in "Gli angui.d'inferno" reaches the note F. in alt. We have been told that her voice encompasses the G., a whole tone higher; but of these exceptional displays the audience will be able shortly to judge for themselves. Mdlle. Carlotta Patti appeared in London not very long after her American debut and at the Royal Italian Opera-house "her peculiar voice and American self-possession" achieved for her a most brilliant success. From this time began a pareer which brought her into the presence of crowned heads and the company of courts the greatest of the living composers were warm in their expressions of admiration and sympathy, and popular applause whisky and gin : this amount being mostly followed her wherever she went. Meantime, I hasten to acknowledge the amiable participation of the Ladies present as the interesting closing feature of the enjoyable occasion, in submitting to being blind-folded and successively led to a spot whereon, after revolving twice in their own orbit, the goal of their fambition was theuce to be the striking of a gong about twenty feet distant suspended in mid air. A curious and amusing incident was the sudden sallying forth of a herd of deer from a distant part of the Park, and their dispersing again upon the placing of the hurdles in position for the most exciting of the races; as though running and leaping of that kind was beneath their notice.

One who was challenged to participate in the Athletics and who might, perhaps rightly, regret inability therein from being prematurely attracted to sosthetics and nence | psing, possibly, too easily to the pathetic, contributed the following unstudied word-rendering of the scene and its associations.

THE KIANGNAN ARSENAL

(Courier.) The Kiangnan Arsenal, between two and three miles from the Settlement, will, just now, in view of a possible war with Russia, well repay a visit, It might be thought by many that the Chinese Government are pushing on warlike preparations with all possible speed, but this is an illusion which a visit to the Aranal will soon dispel, for the manufacture of guns and cannons is proceeding at the old jog-trot pace, whilst half the machinery in the various branches of the establishment is absolutely at a standstill. Each department is superintended by a foreigner-Mr Jno. Mackenzie, a gentleman from Sir William Armstrong's factory, and who wasformerly superintendent of the Turkish Arsenal having charge of the large gun department; Mr Wm. Newton, also from Armstrong's, directing the manufacture of shot and shell; Mr Samuel Ballard, who has likewise rendered conspicuous services to the (destructive) world, the manufacture of cartridges; Mr Jno. Atkinson, the manufacture of gunpowder; whilst Mr John Rennie superintends the ship-building yard; Mr Jno. M. Allen being superintendent marine engineer, and Mr Brettcheineider military instructor. Messrs Ballard and Atkin-HOD, it should be observed, are stationed at Loongwha, some three miles further up the river. The small arms factory has been under native management for the past three years, but we believe that some one is coming out from Remington's establishment in England o'clock and six of them soon ran up the to take charge of this department. The turn-out of (Remington) rifles appears to be very slow, being at the rate of only 60 a week-a work which it takes 200 men to perform. It should be stated that all the hands are Chinese even to the foremen, and that they work if slowly yet none the less surely, and certainly turn out excellent weapons. The difference between native and foreign superintendence is clearly shown in this department, by the small quantity of and sensations which we have had of work performed. It is manifest to the most superficial observer that the Chinese Scotchman" has been followed up in engaged here consider that the first object in the existence and working of the Paisley, which has resulted in five deaths | Arsenal is to provide them with employand many serious injuries—all resulting ment; the effectiveness of the preparations for national defence being a comparatively small matter. Accordingly many are to be seen at work with a fan or eigarette in one hand, or else lounging about drinking cups of tea. In the pents tales and several accounts of fights | departments under foreign control greater vigilance is, of course, exercised, and as a result more work is got through; but even there it is found impossible to stimulate the men to any very great exections, for they have their trade societies the same as European workmen, and That body had reduced the emuluments these societies regulate the quantity of work performed. During the past two years eighteen forty-pound Armstrong guns have been turned out, eight of which have been sent to Tientsin and eight to Nanking, and a hundred andtwenty-pounder is very nearly ready for proof, whi at others of the same size are to be manufactured in the ordinary course, as well as some eighty-pounders. A screw steamer is in course of construc-Wrangling over the situation was the tion, not intended for fighting purposes however, and four of the alphabetical gunboats are in dock being overhauled and journment in order that there might be having their bulwarks heightened. On peace on the Lord's day, and that in the whole, there is nothing whatever to the liouse of God here might not be indicate expectations of early war on the "sacrilege." THE widely-expressed regret at the dis-China and Japan; has induced the publishers of this journal to issue a publication similar in object and style, but slightly tables and other intelligence as is conmodified in certain details.

Queries on the Far East, is issued at intervals of two months, each number containing about 60 octave pages, occasionally illustrated with lithographs, photographs, woodcuts, &c., should the papers published demand, and the circulation justify, such extra matter. The subscription is fixed at $6.50 postage paid, per annum, payable by non-residents in Hongkong half-yearly in advance, The publication includes papers original and selected upon the Arts and Sciences, Ethnology, Folklore, Geography, History, Literature, Mythology, Manners and Customs, Natural History, Religion, &c., &c., of China, Japan, Mongolia, Tibet, the Eastern Archipelego and the "Far East" generally. A more detailed list of subjects upon which contributions are especially invited is incorporated with each number. Original contributions a Chinese, Latin, French, German, Spanish, Italian or Portuguese, are admissible. Endeavours are made to present a resumé in each number of the contents of the most recent works bearing on Chinese matters. Great attention is also paid to the Review department. Notes and Replies are classified together as "Notes" (head references being given, when furnished, to previous Notes or Queries), as are also those queries which though asking for information, furnish new or unpublished details concerning the matter in band. It is desirable to make the Queries proper as brief and as much to the point as possible.

The China Review for July and August 1875, is at hand. It says that forty-two essays were sent in to compete for the best paper on the advantages of Christianity for the development of a State. All our learned societies should subscribe to this scholarly ! and enterprising Review. It is a sixty paged, bi-monthly, repertory of what scholars are ascertaining about China. The lecture on Chinese Poetry in this volume is alone worth the price of the Leview. Address China Review, Hongkong - Northern Christian Advocate (U.S.)

Trubner's Oriental Record contains the following notice of the China Review:-" This is the title of a publication, the first number of which has lately reached us from Hong kong, where it has been set on foot as in some respects a continuation of Notes and Queries on China and Japan, the extinction of which useful serial a year or two ago has been much regretted in Europe as well as in China. The present publication, judging by the number now before us, is intended t occupy a position, as regards China and the neighbouring countries, somewhat similar to that which has been filled in India by the Calcutta Keview. The great degree of at tention that has been bestowed of late years upon the investigation of Chinese literature. antiquities, and social developments, to say nothing of linguistic studies, has led to the accumulation of important stores of inform ation, rendering some such channel of pub licity as is now provided extremely desirable; and contributions of much interest may fairly be looked for from the members of the foreign consular services, the Chines Customs' corps, and the missionary body, among whom a high degree of Chinese scholarship is now assiduously cultivated, and who are severally represented in the first number of the heview by papers highly creditable to their respective authors. In a paper on Dr. Legge's She King, by the bonour is deservedly given, an excellent summary is presented of the chronological problems and arguments involved in connexion with this important work. Some translations from Chinese novels and plays are marked by both accuracy and freshness of style; and an account of the career of the Chinese poet-statesman of the eleventh century, Su Tung-p'o, by Mr. E. C. Bowra, is not only historically valuable, but is also distinguished by its literary grace. Beside notices of new books relating to China and the East, which will be a useful feature of the Review, if carried out with punctuality and detail, we are glad to notice that "Notes" and "Queries" are destined to find a place in its pages also. It is to be hoped that this opening for contributions on Chinese subjects may evoke a similar degree of literary zeal to that which was displayed during the lifetime of its predepessor in the field, and that the China Keview may receive the support necessary to insure its continuance. The publication is intended to appear every two months, and will form a substantial octavo magazine.

THE CHINESE MAIL.

This paper is now issued every day. The subscription is fixed as Four Dollars per annum delivered in Hongkong, or Seven Dollars Fifty Cents including postage to Coast ports. It is the first Chinese Newspaper ever issued under purely native direction. The chief support of the paper is of course derived from the native community, amongst whom also are to be found the eguarantors and securities necessary to place it on a business andlegal footing.

The projectors, basing their estimates upon the most reliable information from the various Ports in China and Japan,from Australia, California, Singapore, Penang, Saigon, and other places frequented by the Chinese, - consider themselves justified in guaranteeing an ultimate circulation of between 3,000 and 1,000 copies. The advantages offered to advertisers are therefore unusually great, and the foreign community generally will find it to their interest to avail themselves of

The field open to a paper of this descrip tion—conducted by native efforts, but progressive and anti-obstructive in tonein almost limitless. It on the one hand Chinese belief and interest while on the other deserves every aid be given to it by foreigners. Like English journals it contains Editorialswith Local, Shipping, and Commercial News and Advertisements. Subscription orders for either of the above may be sent to Local Delivery. 1. All correspondence posted before 5 p.m. on any week day for addresses in Victoria will be delivered the same day, and generally within two hours, unless the delivery should be retarded by the Contract

Mails. 2. Invitations, &c., can generally be delivered within Victoria at the private houses of the addressees rather than at places of business, if a wish to that effect be expressed by the sender, otherwise all Hongkong and Shanghai. correspondence is invariably delivered at the nearest place of business.

8. Boxholders who desire to send Circulars, Dividend Warrants, Invitations, Cards, &c., all of the same weight, to addresses in Hongkong, Bangkok, or the Ports of China and Japan, may deliver thom to the Post Office unstamped, the postage being then charged to the sender's account. Each batch must consist of at least ten.

4. Boxholders may also send Patterns to the same places in the same way. Envelopes containing Patterns may be wholly exhibited or stated to the Postmaster General, as he may consider necessary, and approved by him. Printed Circulars may be inserted in such Pattern Packers.

PARCELS.—The public is reminded that, there is no such thing as Parcel Post to Europe, &c. Much trouble and disappointment are caused by persistent attempts to send small valuable trifles through the Post. Fans, Curios Articles of Dress, Fancy Work, and similar presents are continually being refused, the senders having often spent more in Postage than would have paid the freight by steamer. Money Order Regulations.

Money Orders are exchanged with tto United Kingdom, New South Wales Queensland, South Australia and Por Darwin, the Straits Settlements, Western Australia, and (except at Shanghai) with the Japanese Empire. Hongkong also issues orders on Shanghal, and vice versa. 2 -Small sums may be remitted between the other Ports by means of Postage Stamps, subject to a charge of one per cent, for cashing them.

3 .-- Many Money Orders are supplied to residents at the smaller Ports in this way. An application for an order* is filled up, and is enclosed with a stamped, directed, and unsealed envelope to the Postmaster at the nearest issuing office. The application must be accompanied with the full amount (including commission) in cheque, postage stamps, or other equivalent of cash, and a little margin should be left for variations of exchange. The Postmaster issues the order, sends it on in the envelope, and returns the change, if any, by first opportunity, with a receipt for the letter, if it were to be registered, as it always should be. Care should be taken to send these applications in time, as the Money Order Offices close some hours before the departures of the mails, 4.-No order must exceed £10, or $50, or include any fraction of a penny, nor will more than two such orders be issued to thu same person, in favour of the same payee, by the same mail. Orders will be drawn at the current rate of the day t and paid at the rate of the day when the advice arrived.
